

Indications for permanent pacing will be simplified and summarized by highlighting the underlying physiology evident in the ECG as viewed through the eyes of an electrophysiologist.